

TEACHING AND LEARNING WITH EMERGING TECHNOLOGIES, ADVANCED CERTIFICATE

This 15-credit graduate certificate is designed to serve K-12 teachers, instructors in higher education, and trainers and educators in corporate, community or other organizations, who have an immediate need to retool their skills and theoretical understandings of how new media tools can enhance students' learning experiences, and how pedagogical approaches need to be adjusted in response. This certificate addresses the increasing need in many school and workplace settings to better prepare staff and professionals at all levels to create technologically enhanced learning opportunities.

Note: This certificate is not a New York State teaching certificate.
